WGO DIRECTIVE #001

"WAR READINESS AND IMPERIUM WAR GAMES"

The following directive outlines the intended reforms to the Imperium War Games and also outlines the schedule for weekly Army-Legion practice raids.

IMPERIUM WAR GAMES

The Imperium War Games shall be reformed to happen once a month. These War Games will happen on a Saturday that does not have a Bi-weekly Rally scheduled. Imperium War Games will be more competitive and will strictly use a bracket system, where divisions will fight each other for a title and a banquet with the Graend Council and Emperaetor Aleczaender himself.

WEEKLY PRACTICE RAIDS

Weekly Legion-Army Practice Raids will occur on an Octavian-manufactured map (i.e Grahovo, Southern France)
These practice raids will occur every Friday before the weekend of the Bi-weekly Rally. If a weekend does not already have a Bi-weekly Rally scheduled, it will be done on a Saturday. Do note that the monthly Imperium War Games will also be done on a Saturday, and will take priority over any practice raids that might be happening at that time.

DIVISIONAL COMBAT TRAININGS

Going forth, combat trainings and practice raids between divisions will be heavily encouraged by staff of the War Council of Octavium and members of the Supreme Command. It will be required for these divisions to fight these combat trainings and practice raids on an Octavian map, unless given explicit permission by a member of the Supreme Command or War Council of Octavium.
